

Like the good bacteria found in breastmilk, probiotics are certain types of live microorganisms which may provide digestive and immune benefits if baby consumes enough. They might even be able to help your little one when they're suffering from colic.

The pros of probiotics for your little one

Probiotics are helpful bacteria that help provide a balance of good and bad bacteria, which is super important for your baby.

